Witness Testifies She Helped Pick

Warrant Issue

(By the Associated Press.)

Grand Rapids, Mich., Mar. 22.—Declarations that the Israelite House of David bribed a prosecution attorney in Berrien county to avert an investigation of alleged immoral conditions within the domain of the cult and that an appeal was once made to the governor of Michigan to prevent an inquiry by federal agencies, marked the testimony today by Mrs. Esther Hansell in the suit for a financial accounting brought by her parents-in-law, who charged they were made the victims of fraud by the colony. Mrs. Hansell closed her testimony with a passionate plea for action against the House of David and a challenge to attorneys of the cult to bring into court girls she declared had been mistreated by its leader, Benjamin D. Purnell.

Intercession of Woodbridge N. Ferris, now United States senator-elect and then governor of Michigan, was sought by the cult in 1914, the witness declared, when a federal inquiry threatened.

Mrs. Hansell, then secretary to Purnell, went to Mr. Ferris' home at Big Rapids with Mary Purnell, wife of the cult leader, with a plea that the state institute an inquiry to forestall federal action. The request was laid before the governor at the direction of Purnell, who had fled to Canada, the witness declared.

Several days later Purnell returned to Benton Harbor and wrote a letter to Mr. Ferris asking him what action he planned.

The governor's reply or any action he may have taken was not known to the witness. No investigation was made by the federal or state governments, she said.

About that time rumors were heard that an investigation was planned by county authorities and Purnell summoned Chester F. O'Hara, prosecutor, to the colony.

Mrs. Hansell was present, she said. Purnell, she continued, urged O'Hara not to issue a warrant for him and to quash his plans for the inquiry. At the end of the conference, the witness swore, O'Hara said he would see that no warrant was issued and that justices of the peace were so instructed. None were issued, she said.

"In what way was the favor reciprocated?" Attorney Walter Nelson, for the plaintiff, asked the witness.

"Purnell discussed with me the question of showing O'Hara his appreciation," the witness said, "and had me help him go through his collection of jewels. We finally selected a costly one, suitable for a stickpin."

"Did you see the stone presented to O'Hara?" she asked.

"No, but Purnell told me the presentation was made," Mrs. Hansell declared.

In addition to the tunnel leading from the house of Shilon, and a limousine held in waiting for sudden flight, Mrs. Henas Hansell said Purnell surrounded himself with an armed bodyguard to assist him should outside interference with his practices require it. The body guard, she declared, consisted of 40 men.

FIND OWNER OF PISTOL

Days Before Schneider
Met Death

HOMICIDE CHARGE

Paragon of Wealthy Contractor
Held Without Bail for Examination Saturday on Short Affidavit

New York, Mar. 22.—The pistol with which Frederick Schneider, wealthy Bronx contractor, was slain on February 24, and which was left behind by the murderer, furnished the clue which led to the arrest today of Mrs. Anna Buzzi, housekeeper for Schneider, on a charge of homicide, and the arrest of William Turc, a chauffeur, and Mrs. Buzzi's brother-in-law, as a material witness.

Immediately after the slaying of Schneider, who was shot to death at the wheel of his automobile on a lonely Bronx road, Mrs. Buzzi was held for several days without bail as a material witness and later released. Two witnesses told of seeing a woman leave the scene of the murder, but neither was able to identify her. The pistol, with which Schneider was shot, detectives said today, had been traced to Turc. His wife, another woman and three other men, whose names were not announced, were called to the district attorney's office for questioning.

Turc was said by detectives to have admitted to the district attorney that he owned the pistol and had loaned it to Mrs. Buzzi two days before Schneider was slain.

Captain Bruckman of the Bronx detective bureau said the pistol was found to have been stolen from an armory in Toledo, O., brought to New York by the thief, and owned by two other men before it had been given to Turc.

Arraigned before Magistrate Silberman, Mrs. Buzzi was held without bail for examination March 24, on a short affidavit charging her with having fired the two shots which caused Schneider's death.

Turc was held in $50,000 bail as a material witness by County Judge Gibbs. James F. Donnelly, counsel for Mrs. Buzzi, said his client had obtained additional evidence to prove she was in her Grand Concourse apartment from 11 a. m. until she was arrested the day Schneider was shot. He said he was ready at any time to go to trial. Captain Bruckman announced that the case would be presented to the Bronx grand jury on Monday.

USES ELECTRIC CURRENT FOR PNEUMONIA TREATMENT

Hoboken, N. J., Mar. 22.—Perfection of a new treatment for pneumonia, whereby high frequency electric currents are inducted into the patient's body, was announced today by Dr. H. V. Drossner, a Roentgen ray specialist, attached to St. Mary's hospital, who has been carrying on experiments with pneumonia patients under the observation of a group of New Jersey lung specialists.

The treatment was said by Dr. Drossner to relieve congestion by electrically producing body heat and by driving blood to the affected organ. Nine persons were subjected to the treatment and all recovered so rapidly that they will be discharged from the hospital within a few days.

WATER FOR ALCOHOL

Philadelphia, Mar. 22.—Matthew F. Griffin, formerly head of the United States secret service in the Philadelphia district, and six other defendants were found guilty by a jury in the federal district court today of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with an alleged plot to substitute water for whiskey and alcohol in a large shipment to Greece. They were held in $10,000 bail each on a pending motion for a new trial. Had the plans of the alleged conspiracy gone through, it was said, they would have made at least $5,000,000.

NEW PAYMENT PLAN OF COST OF RHINE ARMY

Deal With Question on Basis of 12 Annual Payments, Giving
U. S. Priority on German
Reparations

CABLED TO HUGHES

Reply Is Expected Tomorrow; Proposal Provides That America
Accept Armaments Material
as Credit in Part

(By the Associated Press.)

Paris, Mar. 22.—The allied delegation to the conference on the cost of the American Rhineland army today submitted a new payment plan to Eliot Wadsworth, assistant secretary of the United States treasury, for transmission to Washington.

The new plan, evolved at a session lasting nearly four hours, deals with the question on the basis of 12 annual payments and goes into the mechanism by which these payments can be made from German reparations, when or if paid giving the United States priority.

Mr. Wadsworth made a number of objections to the new plan and asked if interest would be paid if the installments were not forthcoming during the 12 years.

The plan proposes that the armaments material taken over by the United States should be accepted as a credit to the amount of $5,000,000 gold marks. The suggestion that the German vessels seized by the United States should count as a credit was dropped.

The conference will meet again next Tuesday and meanwhile the allied representatives will confer with a view to overcoming certain objections made to the present plan. Mr. Wadsworth hopes to have a reply from Secretary of State Hughes in time for Tuesday's meeting.

Mr. Wadsworth is understood to have demanded that, if Germany loans a big reparation loan, the United States be paid its $250,000,000 therefrom.

The impression gained from talking with the conference attendees was that the conversations are becoming very complicated and there was the further suggestion that they are not going as smoothly as before.

The absolute priority on future German reparations, demanded by the American representative, seems to have aroused some opposition among the allies. It is pointed out that such priority might mean that the United States would get a very large percentage of the German payments in those years in which the payments were not very great, and thus dissatisfaction would be caused among those countries which otherwise would receive this money as reparations.

MANY DISREGARD SAUNDERS' DEMAND

Stock Exchange Strikes Piggly
Wiggly Stock From "Big Board;" Small Sales
at $150

New York, Mar. 22.—The ultimatum of Clarence Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., calling upon the trapped short interests in the Class A stock, estimated at 25,000 shares, to settle with at $150 a share before 3 p. m. today, or to pay $250 later, apparently was disregarded by the majority of the shorts. Although E. W. Bradford, Mr. Saunders' counsel, expressed satisfaction at the progress of the settlement, which is being handled through about a dozen brokerage houses, it was reported that the day's sales at Mr. Saunders' quoted price of $150 were exceedingly small.

The New York stock exchange, which suspended trading in the issue following its violent 52 point fluctuation Tuesday, today struck the stock from the list on the ground that there was such a concentration of holdings as to make impossible a free market for the stock. The exchange also postponed until 3:15 p. m. next Monday, the date for the delivery on Tuesday's transactions, thus giving sellers of stock coming from distant points time to obtain the same purpose of delivery.

L. R. STEEL, NATIONALLY KNOWN BUSINESS MAN, DIES

Toledo, O., Mar. 22.—L. R. Steel of Buffalo, nationally known business man, died from natural causes on a New York Central train enroute to Union depot yards here early this morning, according to Coroner Charles J. Henninger, who conducted a post mortem examination.

Death was caused by a ruptured blood vessel in the brain, Coroner Henninger found.

Mr. Steel's death came while he was enroute to Chicago after conferences with Pittsburgh and Cleveland financiers and in an effort to raise $1,000,000, which his associates said he believed would prevent his firm from going into receivership. His efforts to raise the money were futile, it was said, and, giving up in despair, Mr. Steel started for Chicago to rest.

END OF GALLANT BATTLESHIP IOWA IN MANEUVERS

Ship Which Won Fame in Destruction of Cervara's Fleet at Santiago Sank by Salvo From Mississippi's Big Guns

Aboard U. S. S. Maryland, Panama Bay by radio to Associated Press, Mar. 22.—Amidst strains of the Star Spangled Banner and the firing of national salutes, the old battleship Iowa sank here late today. After a shelling by the superdreadnaught Mississippi's 14-inch rifles, the battered hull turned slowly over on its side and slid beneath the waves.

Secretary Denby, members of the congressional party, naval officers and observing ship's companies stood at attention in silent tribute to the once gallant ship that won fame in the destruction of Cervara's fleet at Santiago. With this dramatic climax the winter maneuvers of the United States fleet ended. For part of two days the Iowa withstood the battering from the Mississippi, which was using this Maimed ship, but her end came in 17 minutes after the superdreadnaught opened up with service shells from a range of approximately nine miles. Nine five-gun salvos were fired. The first went wide. But the second carried the Iowa's death blow, one shell hitting at the waterline, smashing through the thick armor and exploding inside.

At least five other direct hits were scored, hastening the end. Before using service shells the Mississippi fired 120 rounds of special shells. Salvo after salvo struck the hull, carrying away the forward smokestack, riddling ventilators and the superstructure and tearing nearly a dozen holes in the hull.

It had been the intention to maneuver the Iowa by radio control during the firing, but just before this started the apparatus became deranged, and the ship wallowed helplessly in the sea as shells rained down upon her.

The second salvo of the first attack started up her boilers, smoke pouring out of the after funnel. Twice shells started fires on her deck, but these were extinguished by columns of water thrown up by explosions of shells closely. Near the end, fuel oil ignited, the smoke pouring from the hull.

SEARCH FOR MONEY SEARCHING WOMAN

Letters by Her to Harbored "Hermit" Found in Shack on Jamaica Bay

New York, Mar. 22.—A young mother with a lurid imagination, who wrote cash-compelling notes about being "held in ransom" and signed them "beloved Rose," was sought by Brooklyn detectives tonight in their hunt for the murderer of "eccentric" Lou Schechinger, 29-year-old hammer victim, believed to have been slain Tuesday for the $3,000 he kept hidden in his little shack on Jamaica Bay.

Among his few acquaintances, Schechinger was known as a man who disliked women and who would "always live alone."

But there were at least two women in the young man's life, detectives have learned. One of them wrote a note, discovered among Schechinger's effects today. It was in feminine handwriting, postmarked from Brooklyn on Mar. 9, and read:

"Darling Louis: Please send me $25 in a hurry. I am held for ransom. When I am free, we will get them. I will see you in Brooklyn. Your beloved Rose."

The police have learned that "Rose" had made previous requests for money to the young man, the latest a month ago, but they have declined to reveal any more than the few words in the "ransom" note.

FORSAKES GOLF FOR FORD RIDE

President Climbs Into "For Hire"
Flitzer to See the Sights of Florida Village

Daytona, Fla., Mar. 22.—Titusville, a wee speck of a town of the south, was both thrilled and amused today by the sight of Warren G. Harding, of Washington, tourist in Florida for a time, riding through the streets of the village in a shining new Ford. The President, with Dick Jervis of the secret service detail, was on a "personally conducted" sight seeing tour.

When the hotshot Pioneer decked at Titusville to take on gasoline and water, the President left for a walk, but deciding he could see the sights more pleasantly in an automobile, he hailed the first "for hire" car in sight. It happened to be a bright new Ford driven by a young man wearing khaki trousers and a khaki shirt and no hat. Mr. Harding climbed into the back seat with Jervis and surveyed the realm, returning to the deck just as the Pioneer was ready to start.

Although virtually the entire day was spent in cruising up the Indian river and into the Indian river, the President was behind schedule and it began to appear more than probable that St. Augustine, the end of the tour trip, would not be reached before darkness.

WOULD NOT BLACKMAIL RICH FRIEND

Theory That Reason Dorothy Keen-

She Would Not Enter Plot
to Fleecce Man

PORTUGUESE'S PLAN

Police Find Photograph of Man
Who Made Proposal in Apartment of Young Model;
Had Quarrelled

New York, Mar. 22.—The theory that Dorothy "Kings" Keenan was murdered because of her refusal to participate in a blackmail plot was given more support in a statement by George P. LeBrun, secretary to Chief Medical Examiner Norris, who was among the first to visit the model's apartment on W. 57th street, after her body was discovered eight days ago.

Mr. LeBrun said one of the things he found in the apartment was a photograph of a man, said by Miss Keenan's mother to be a friend of Dorothy's, but with whom she had quarrelled.

"The mother said that this man, whom she called a Portuguese," said LeBrun, "had made a proposition to Dorothy, her mother told her, to get some money out of Dorothy's friend. This friend, she said, was a good friend of her daughter's and had been very kind to her. The maid called him 'the millionaire.'"

LeBrun said Mrs. Keenan told him Dorothy would not agree to this proposal and that Miss Keenan's older brother told him that "this Portuguese had maltreated his mother and seemed to be very bitter against the man."

LeBrun said he had been led to visit the apartment through a telephone call from a friend who had asked him whether he had any information as to the death of a young woman on W. 57th street.

This friend, LeBrun said, told him the "next day" he had inquired at the request of "Mr. Marshall's" attorneys, who was also his friend. LeBrun's friend said the attorney had said that Miss Keenan was dead. LeBrun refused to make public the name of his friend.

Describing conditions at the apartment when he arrived, LeBrun said an assistant medical examiner as well as Mrs. Keenan, the model's two brothers, the maid, and a policeman were already there.

LeBrun said that in the hallway of the apartment was a porcelain umbrella stand which contained a man's umbrella. Nearby, he said, was a piece of absorbent cotton which was the same kind as was used in chloroforming the model.

Quarrels between the "Portuguese" and the model were described by Mrs. Keenan, LeBrun said, as declared she told him that the man had slapped her daughter's face a few days before the killing.

Mrs. Keenan told him she knew "the millionaire," LeBrun asserted. He said they told him about the loss of much valuable jewelry from the apartment, and said a "beautiful fur coat" had also disappeared.

REPUBLICANS KILL LOCKWOOD MEASURE

Bill Intended to Regulate Stock Exchange on Proposed Supervision of Sale of Securities

Albany, Mar. 22.—The Lockwood housing committee legislation, intended to regulate the stock exchange, license brokers, and generally place supervision of the sale of securities under the office of the state superintendent of banks fell victim to the majority of the Republican majority of the assembly today in the second scrimmage between Governor Smith and Speaker Machell. The trades commission, also a recommendation of the housing committee, and a third Lockwood measure, the one designed to require that fire and casualty insurance companies dispose of their holdings in stock, also met their end.

As in the first battle between the Republican assembly and the Democratic administration, when the four year term and executive budget bills were killed, the Lockwood measures met their death through adverse reports of assembly committees. The committee on banks, ways and means and insurance, reported the various bills out with their disapproval and the Democrats waged their fight in an effort to defeat adoption of the report. Failed in that, all efforts to bring the measures out would prove unavailing since the same vote would prevail.

Five Democrats left their party ranks and voted with the majority to uphold the adverse report. They were Assemblymen Louis A. Cavellier, Frederick L. Hackett, Joseph R. Sisko, Thomas F. Sackin and John F. Nugent, all from Governor New York districts. On one of the measures, the Cavellier bill, identical with the Cullen bill, intended to require that the stock exchange incorporate, Mr. Cavellier voted against adoption of the report, except for this one instance, where he voted to support his own measure, the defuncting five should include Cavellier.

tually Making Hand There

New York, Mar. 22.—Mathew Kiddulph, testifying today against Charles J. Hughes, charged with harboring two men alleged to have stolen $500,000 worth of jewels from Mrs. C. P. Hugo Schoellkopf, of Buffalo, at a New Year's eve party in New York, reiterated his confession of complicity in the crime.

Kiddulph said he had discussed with Hughes original plans which called for a trip to Buffalo for the purpose of robbing the wealthy businessman's wife but that Hughes had said they could not get through the roads with their car because of the snow.

Kiddulph testified after Mrs. Schoellkopf had left the stand.

A flurry was caused during the trial when Frank E. Carman, Mrs. Schoellkopf's host at a party on the night of the robbery, was barred from the courtroom. He insisted he was only a spectator, but he was refused admittance on the ground that he might be called.

Kiddulph said he lived with Eugene Moran and Albert Horowitz, his confederates in the robbery and that they had made a living selling liquor. He said they had watched Carman's apartment for some time, and moved in the apartment below Carman's with a view to making a haul.

Carman's apartment New Year's eve, engaged in the card game and making communication with Moran and Horowitz, giving them the tip when Mrs. Schoellkopf prepared to leave, he added. Soon after her departure he went downstairs and found her lying on the bed, with Moran and Horowitz stripping the jewels off her fingers and clothing and neck.

Hughes then drove them to a hotel in White Plains where his confederates, with the jewelry, took leave of him, he continued. He remained at the hotel a week, he said, then telephoned Hughes, and the latter came to see him.

Kiddulph said Hughes expressed concern about money from the sale of the jewels and that he told him not to worry, that Moran was "square." He said he went to Albany with a letter from Hughes to a man who would "take care" of them.

REDRAFT RESOLUTION FOR ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

Rome, Mar. 22.—The American resolution presented to the international chamber of commerce on Tuesday, suggesting the calling of a world economic conference to settle world economic difficulties, underwent slight modification today as it was passed among the various foreign delegations to the congress prior to being formally offered.

Changes in the resolution were necessary in order to comply with the French viewpoint, but the American delegates succeeded in rounding out their motion so that the French were satisfied. The American delegates met tonight for the final re-drafting of their project before its formal presentation to the congress tomorrow.

Who First Felt Like A Fight-ING COCK?

But it is only 90 years ago that the first man felt "like a fighting cock!" Now he has brothers, sisters, nephews, nieces, all over the world—"like a fighting cock!"

It happens the way a person holds up with a 100 lb. sack and heavy leaden shoes. Takes Bechman's Pills but before going to bed, immediately the pills begin to loosen the digestive and eliminative organs.

Consequently, this person has a good night's sleep and arises in the morning with clear brain, bright eyes, keen appetite, and full of energy for work and play.

It is now just 90 years since Bechman's Pills first began correcting disordered stomachs and bowels to natural activity—and feeling "like a fighting cock" is associated so inseparably with Bechman's Pills, as the pills are with good health.

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

Pamphlet With Us.

Evidence of greatly increased prosperity over that of one year ago is offered by the income and profit tax payments to the federal government. It is estimated that receipts thus far will exceed those of last year for a like period by at least $10,000,000. Not only is the sum greater but the payments were made more promptly. A significant feature of the situation is seen in the number of full payments for the year.

Such are mostly from those who owed small amounts but that they did not take advantage of the installment privilege is proof that they had a surplus and preferred to wipe out the indebtedness at once and be done with it. That more is paid and done so promptly is indisputable evidence that the masses have had greater incomes than they had a year ago. People do not contribute taxes except as an obligation.

A gratifying feature of the situation lies in that the improved condition is well-nigh nation-wide. — (Pittsburgh Gazette-Times).

Motor Fuel.

The country can depend upon the ingenuity of its industrial chemists to come forward with a substitute when the price of gasoline stimulates their interests in substitutes. There has also been a tendency to refine the design of gasoline engines with a view to fuel economy, following the European example, which was influenced by the high price of fuel. In general there seems to be no ground for apprehension about an immediate shortage of motor fuel.—(Indianapolis News).

New York's Motor Cars.

There probably are nearly as many automobiles in New York state as there are in Europe. The number registered at Albany bulks large in comparison with the number of motor cars in use in the entire world outside the United States. The State Tax commission has announced that there were 1,225,000 motor vehicles in the state at the end of the year 1931—nearly 25 per cent more than the number the year before.—(New York Tribune).

Suffrage in South America.

From the Pan-American Association for the Advancement of Women, comes the announcement that Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt has been making a tour of South America in behalf of this new organization. A cablegram from her expresses her gratification at the opportunities she found in Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Chile, Panama and Venezuela, for work among women, but equal suffrage there is still largely an academic question.—(Philadelphia Record).

Turning the Tables.

Mortified, perhaps, by their success in an "intelligence test," the students of Newcomb college, an institution for young women at New Orleans, turned the tables on the professors by asking them to submit to similar questioning. The professors seem to have been rather hush in accepting the challenge. At least they came out of the test none the wiser. It all goes to show once more that questionnaires may not be an infallible test of mental capacity.—(The Birmingham Post-Herald).

French Wagon Motif.

Information comes from Paris that in a "semi-official" note issued by the French foreign office last Saturday it was announced that "the French government will consider unfriendly and even hostile any effort at mediation" in the matter of the Ruhr. Precisely to what extent this warning, being only "semi-official," falls short of being absolutely authoritative does not appear, but however that may be, the statement which has been made does no more than confirm what had been the general understanding.—(Philadelphia Inquirer).

Modern Evolution of an Inca Chief.

Tichapata, Inca chief in Peru, watches fish swimming in a river. From them he gets an idea for an invention. Improved paddle wheel which he says would carry a ship across the Atlantic in two days. Tichapata catches a steamer, arrives in New York to interest capitalists in his invention. This Inca chief is a university graduate. He builds canals, is an expert at repairing sugar plantation machinery and travels in his home country on a bicycle of his own invention. The bike has revolving wings. Tichapata is a Christian. Compare him with his sun-worshipping ancestors, and you realize how the white man's civilization is penetrating to the far corners of the earth.—(New Orleans State).

New York's Last Naval Year.

The stage fiction of six characters in search of an author is succeeded in New York by the actual spectacle of a six-million city in search of an anniversary date. With plans well under way for the celebration of the metropolitan tercentenary, it is discovered that there are among the doctors of history differences of opinion as to the city's birth-time. In the matter of whether Manhattan was settled in 1616, in 1624 or in some year between there are authorities all along the line.—(New York World).

Gulfing Weight of There.

A tax authority is quoted as saying that if taxes increase for another seventeen years at the rate at which they have been growing since the war each citizen of the United States will pay the tax collector fifty cents out of every dollar of income. The point where progressive taxation kills the goose that lays the golden egg is rapidly approaching. An agricultural authority declares the farmers are "acutely conscious of the demoralizing, galling weight of this infernal monster."—(Milwaukee Sentinel).

THE BOOTLEGGERS MASTERPIECE

A STORY OR TWO

This happened in England; A certain rich litigant went away to his country seat at the conclusion of an important case before judgment had been pronounced. A few hours later his lawyer wired him as follows: "Right has triumphed." The rich litigant wired back: "Appeal at once."

Away out in Westby, Wis., where the population is 100 proof Norwegian, says the Chicago Tribune, a big touring car came through the town the other day and accidentally ran down a couple of natives. The driver, intending to give himself up, went to the town marshal and explained that he had probably killed two Norwegians. "Well," said the marshal, "we don't do nothing about that here. You got to go down to Viroqua for the bounty."

"Friend," said Cactus Joe to the stranger in Crimson Gulch, "you have held four of a kind three times, a royal flush twice and several ace fairs. 'Lucky, I call it.' 'You're luckier than you think. The boys here are willing to let you go your way intact, provided you start immediately. There won't be any gun play unless you linger. The big luck for you is the fact that you happened to pick 'Safety First' Week for your performance at this card table."

Among the members of a fashionable country club are a doctor and a minister, who delight in the exchange of repartee, says the Living Church. As they met one day the minister observed that he was "going to read to old Cunningham," adding (as he was aware that the old man was a patient of his friend the doctor). "Is he any worse?" With the gravest of expressions the physician replied: "He needs your help more than mine." Off his guard, the minister asked, anxiously: "Poor fellow, is it as bad as that?" "Yes; he is suffering from insomnia."

A foreigner was haled into police court in Omaha for making corn alcohol, locally known as "hooch," "white mule," "skullcap," etc. On a stand were several gallon containers of the stuff to be used as evidence. The magistrate turned to the prisoner and said: "If you will drink a half pint or a water glass full of this stuff, I will turn you loose."

The prisoner shook his head and said: "Not me. I make it to sell and not to drink."

The magistrate replied: "If you refuse to drink it I will bind you over to the district court fixing your bond at $1,500."

Still he declined to drink.

"Bound over," said the magistrate. "You are in fine business, making poison you will not drink yourself."

Then the magistrate took another tack. He told the defendant's lawyer he would release his client if he (the lawyer) would drink a glassful of the stuff.

"Nothing doing," was the reply. "I am employed to defend this man, not to commit suicide."

The knitting mill conducted by E. E. Scatchard is now employing about 100 hands, mostly women, and has become so profitable that they are now able to earn from $1 to $1.75 a day. In December the mill turned out 14,557 dozen pairs of hose.

Things We Have Always Known

The recent business condition has brought to the forefront of thought many fundamental considerations that have always been known but have been damned with faint praise.

Human nature in the mass is very much like human nature in the individual. One of its dominant characteristics has been summed up in the observation, "You never miss the water till the well runs dry." We never appreciate fundamental things until we have occasion to do without them.

This observation has a special application to the Demand of the public for the products of industry. While the Demand was at high tide and everybody was busy trying to supply that Demand at a profit no one, seemingly, gave a thought to where the Demand came from, how long it might last, or what would happen if it should fail. We merely assumed the permanent existence of the Demand, just as we assume the presence of water, air, and fire.

But a day came when Demand began to subside, and in many industries it came almost to a full stop. And then we turned it, and realized, as never before, what an important thing it was. And we began to inquire where it came from in the first place, and how it might be restored.

We always knew—everybody knew—that Desire for things made a Demand for them in the market. That people desired things we accepted as an elemental fact. But when we discovered that Desire fluctuated we began to appreciate that Desire, as we know it, is a thing created by the art of man. It is a highly specialized form of elemental need—just as a Louis XVI chair is made out of a tree.

This discovery led to another equally important discovery that the means of refining and specializing that Desire was Advertising. The gigantic work that has been accomplished by modern advertising now stands out in bold relief. It has been the means by which the refinements of civilization have been made known and made desirable, and this desire has been made into Demand. It is a simple fact that a million profitable forms of industrial activity owe their very existence to the fact that Advertising upheld the standards of living which in turn provided the demand for their products.

Resignation Accepted

At a meeting of the police commission held yesterday morning at the Municipal building the resignation of Fred Crouch as patrolman was accepted, effective at once. Charges had been preferred of being intoxicated while on duty and he had been suspended. While regret was expressed to lose the services of a man who had been considered one of the best men on the force it was considered that it would be detrimental to discipline to continue him upon the force and his resignation was accepted. The necessity for such action will be generally regretted.

Discuss Garbage Collection

Garbage collection, which has become a veritable nightmare for the board of health, was considered at a meeting of the board yesterday and while no definite decision was reached it was deemed probable that some system would be devised whereby the collection would be continued and the cost assessed upon the householders. The plans tried previously have not proven satisfactory and Dr. Hamilton was compelled to discontinue owing to lack of united cooperation on the part of the residents of the city.

Woman's Club

Mrs. Harry Golden, Mrs. A. H. Brownell and Miss Pearl Howe were hostesses at the Thursday afternoon tea at the club rooms. Rev. John W. Flynn read a paper on "Wadsworth and his nature poem," which was of unusual interest and much enjoyed by members present.

MAY PAVE CENTER STREET

BOARD APPROVES PAVING SATURDAY EVENING TO AHEAD PAVING.

Bidder Submitting to Pave Main and Church Streets With Asphaltum Under of Center Street Asphaltum—Contract for Materials Awarded.

If the residents of Center street desire to have that street paved this summer and the work included in the contract for the pavement of Main and Church streets it will be necessary for a petition to be at once circulated and the requisite number of signatures secured. This was decided at a meeting of the board of public works held last evening at which the pavement situation was discussed. It was agreed that the larger the contract and the more pavement to be constructed at one time, the more advantageous to the city would be the price secured. Contractors in moving their machinery and equipment are in quest of the large contracts.

The board is desirous of determining at once relative to Main and Church streets and a resolution was in readiness for last evening but it appearing that Center street should be paved and it being reported that many property owners on that street are in favor, the board decided to adjourn to Saturday evening at 7 o'clock before acting. If the petition for Center street is completed, it can be included at that time. Otherwise not unlikely Center street will be completed to wait at least one year before it can secure a favorable action.

The board opened the bids for materials desired for street work during the present year. There were three bidders: L. P. Butts, Briggs Lumber company and the Standard Oil company. The bids of Mr. Butts for three communities was the lowest and for asphaltic binder it was the same as the Standard Oil and orders for the following were authorized to Mr. Butts:

Three to five cars of cement as needed.
2,000 tons of crushed stone.
24,000 gallons of asphaltic oil for dirt streets.
30 to 50 barrels of asphaltic binder.

Chairman Hoyt, in announcing the award, said that the board appreciated the low prices quoted by Mr. Butts and also his uniform courtesy at all times in supplying material in the past and while the board could not award the contract to other than the lowest bidder, it was gratifying that it goes to a local firm and one always willing to aid the board.

DOLLAR DAY BIG SUCCESS

Great Merchandising Event Goes "Over the Top" With the Same Degree of Enthusiasm as in the Past.

Dollar Day went over the top in the Oneonta stores yesterday. It didn't even need sunshine to make it one of the biggest Dollar Days in the history of this popular merchandising institution.

The buyers were out early in the morning. In the case of a few stores there were customers waiting to be admitted when the doors were opened so eager were they to get at the bargains which were announced for this day only.

numerous, with the result that all day long the merchants who took advantage of the opportunity and advertised their specials were busy rolling up a record day's business—and others who did not cooperate in the advertising reaped a decided impetus in business resultant from the cooperative effort of the others to attract buyers to the city.

The bargains were just as attractive as ever, relatively speaking. Of course it is ridiculous to think that any merchant can today give the prices which he was able to give a few years ago, yet he can give just as great relative bargains and they are accepted as such by the buying public, who, on the other hand, have more money with which to buy than ever before, making the situation as normal as ever.

Inquiries at the Oneonta Department Store

Inquiries at the Oneonta Department Store, Bell Clothing company, Honan Bros., R. F. Sisson, L. E. Wilber company, Baker's Garment shop, Gardner's, S. & S. Shoe company, R. E. Prigmore, Miller-Strong and City Drug stores brought forth favorable responses that the day had proven in every way satisfactory and the volume of sales will compare favorably with any like event ever held in the city.

R. J. Warren of the Oneonta Sales company, who had the impetus of previous announcements of a three day special sale of used cars which commenced yesterday and continues today and tomorrow, reports the sale of 15 new cars and 10 used ones, indicating that the demand for Fords is as great as ever.

PLAINS SCHOOL BONDS SOLD

Sherwood & Merrill of New York, Pay 104.49 for issue.

Sanford A. Shepherd, chairman of the board of trustees of the school at Plains, New York, reported that the bonds of the school district for the construction of the new school building recently erected there. The bonds were in small denominations and are payable over a period of 17 years and bear six per cent interest.

The bidders were the Wilber National bank of Oneonta, representing both the Citizens bank and itself, Sherwood & Merrill, George B. Gibbons & Company and Union National corporation, all of New York City, and O'Brien, Potter & Co., of Buffalo. Each bidder to qualify was required to deposit ten per cent of the issue.

The bonds were finally struck off to Sherwood & Merrill at $104.49, which nets the district over $1221 premium and brings the actual net interest to below 5 per cent.

"DADDY LONG LEGS" PLAYS

LATEST PRODUCTION DIFFICULT TO SURPASS

Annual Play of Oneonta High School Dramatic Club Offered by Large and Enthusiastic Audience at the High School Last Evening—Protagonist Remains for Tonight.

"Daddy Long Legs," which the Dramatic club of the high school presented at the school auditorium last evening, was one of the best amateur productions ever presented in the city. A well selected cast had been especially coached by Miss Bonnie Cowan of the town school faculty, and, with rather elaborate stage settings, the play far outdistanced the highest expectations of the audience or of any other connected with the production. There was a very good attendance last evening but there are only about thirty seats remaining for the presentation this evening. The seats will be on sale at the store of R. W. Murdoch, where will also be found the chart of seats today. Tickets will be on sale, if any remain, at the school building before the performance which starts at 8:15 o'clock this evening.

"Daddy Long Legs" deals with the experiences of a girl of eighteen, Judy Abbott, until she is a young lady of twenty-two. She is taken as a ward by a rather young bachelor, John Smith, as soon as she leaves the orphanage where she has spent all of her life and sent through college by her anonymous benefactor. Strangely enough she learns to love the uncle of one of her college roommates, Jervis Pendleton, who professes his love for her but from whom she hides her affection fearing that knowledge of her parentage would spoil the dream. Naturally when she learns that her "Daddy Long Legs" John Smith, is her lover the play comes to an end.

The work of the entire cast was very creditable not only to each member but to the club and to Miss Cowan, under whose direction the play was staged, as her fourth here. And while they took no part in the play the hard work of the stage managers was evident all of the time. They are Arthur Lewis, Donald Charles, Warren Pashley, Adelbert Perkins, Bruce Shear, and Kenneth Lyon. Miss Kraft, a mistress of wardrobe, and the Misses Helen Reid, Virginia Colburn, Beatrice Osterhout, and Helen Potter are property mistresses. Warren Pashley and Donald Charles are business manager and sales manager, and to them the financial success of the venture may be attributed.

To return to the cast, William Brewster and Miss Doris Stowell have long parts as the leads, but each gave an unhesitating interpretation in almost perfect manner. There are many difficult incidents, and all were well done. In scenes with Jervis Pendleton and pretty Judy Abbott alone, they were specially effective. Eaton Goldthwaite as Jimmie McBride ("James, if you please"), a Yale man, could secure a laugh whenever he desired. A funnier character it is hard to imagine, although Joseph Ryan, who played a minor part, received several laughs fully as hearty as could be.

Marion Oulmette as Miss Prichard, fitted in very well throughout the play and seemed fully at ease all of Act one took place in the dining room of the John Geier home on trustee day. Besides Joseph Ryan, the Misses Winifred Kinkle, Marion Wilder, Jane Goldard, Ruth Hanusson, and Helen Cole made excellent orphan children. And as a superintendent no one in real life could improve upon Miss Katherine Gallagher. This might also be said of trustees, Charles Beams, George Wright, Judson Lutney and Charles Lauren; besides William Brewster.

Misses Helen Roberts and Dorothy Warner made a girl's college room seem natural in act two. Miss Florence Every was a very good maid, although too attractive. Miss Vida Cooke played the haughty Mrs. Pendleton with conviction.

Acts four and five introduced Beatrice Sutter as Mrs. Semple, who with cheerful hospitality entertained Miss Abbott during the summers. Robert Taggart and Arthur Lewis made ideal servants of the young bachelor, Jervis Pendleton, alias John Smith, alias Daddy Long Legs, alias William Brewster.

Between the second and third acts Stuart Pratt gave two fine piano solos which received a warm reception. "Valse Brillante" (in A-flat) by Chopin, and "Spinning Song" from "The Songs Without Words," of Mendelssohn.

The latest school play always seems the best, but "Daddy Long Legs" will be a difficult one to surpass.

Big Night at the Oneonta Theatre. There was a good attendance at the Oneonta theatre last evening. A burlesque mind reading act put on by Clarence Roth and Edward McDonough was very good and won the applause of the entire house. Followed their skit the acts of amateur night were given. Miss Kathelyn Harter received first award for a clever dancing act. Tony McNelis won second prize for singing and dancing, while Vincent Martucci and Harry Scott presented a sketch, "The Bootblack" for third prize.

WILBER WILL CASE POSITIONED

MOTION BY ATTORNEY SEYBOLT THAT PETITION OF MRS. LYON BE DENIED DEFERS

Motion of Judge H. C. Stanton Petitioning the Probate and Hearing of Evidence in Proceedings for Removal of Executors is Adjourned to April 11.

At the close of extended arguments asking for the dismissal of the petition filed with Surrogate Sheldon H. Close by Mrs. Flora Lyon for the removal of the Wilber National bank as executors and trustees of the estate of the late George I. Wilber, made by Attorney Alva Seybolt for the bank, and by Owen C. Becker, Esq., an attorney for D. F. Keyes, an individual stockholder of the Wilber National, Surrogate Close denied the application suggesting that the attorneys for the bank could renew the application on the completion of the evidence to be offered by Attorney Edson A. Hayward in the case.

There was no evidence taken in the case, although yesterday was the date fixed for the commencement of the trial when it was adjourned some weeks ago, after the bank had requested that the attorney for the plaintiff file a bill of particulars. When the surrogate announced that he would deny the motion, Attorney Seybolt asked for an adjournment for four or six weeks, stating that former Surrogate Herbert C. Stratton of Oxford, counsel for the bank in the proceedings, is ill at his home in Oxford, suffering from an attack of the influenza and unable to leave his home. He could not state how soon Judge Stratton would be able to appear. Attorney Hayward urged that the case be pushed, as speedily as possible, insisting that his client should receive the income from the estate as promptly as possible, being in need of it. However, he did not wish to press the case to trial without Judge Stratton, although suggesting that Attorneys Seybolt and Becker were perfectly able to defend the case.

Surrogate Close suggested that the case be adjourned until Wednesday, April 4, and this meeting with the approval of opposing counsel, it was so ordered.

In support of his motion that the petition of the plaintiff be dismissed, Attorney Seybolt spoke at some length, going over the bill of particulars filed by Attorney Hayward and replying to each allegation. Mr. Seybolt declared that some of the things complained of concern the bank only and not the estate in any way and that in the main they are too vague and imaginary to be serious, considered.

He ridiculed some of the charges and relative to others said that the executors had according to the statute six months before they could legally pay any claim while the petition was verified within four months after the death of the decedent. Mr. Seybolt said that the bank is proceeding with all due diligence and is endeavoring to discharge its obligations both to the legatees and to the wishes of the maker of the will.

Mr. Becker in his argument spoke of the resources of the Wilber National and of the reputation for honor and probity of the directors and assuming, he said, that they may have done some things ill-advised or not in strict accord with the statutes controlling, that there has been no wrong intent and that there is no suspicion that the legacy or any portion is in danger. He further urged that any error or error that may have been made may be remedied by direction of the surrogate under whose control the executor is at all times.

In His Evidence Cecil Green Says That No Violence Was Used and That He Did Not Call Water Upon Chase to Revive Him—Averrs That Chase Knocked Trooper Off Horse—Chase Goes to Jury This Forenoon.

Cooperstown, Mar. 22.—The defense in the case of the People against Cecil Green, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of John Chase in the town of Hartwick in January last, rested its case at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon and court adjourned until 9 o'clock Friday morning. It is considered probable that the case will be presented to the jury before noon tomorrow.

At the present time it is considered by those who are familiar with the case that the outcome will hinge on the issue as to whether Chase met his death by violence as contended by the prosecution or by more natural causes in accordance with the theory advanced by the defense. In support of its contention the defense during the afternoon swore three expert medical witnesses, Dr. Barney W. Phillips of Hartwick, Dr. Frank L. Winsor of Laurens and Dr. George Manley of the Norwich hospital. All three in answering to hypothetical questions propounded by Attorney David F. Lee of Norwich for the defense said that death might have resulted from acute alcoholism.

The hypothesis of this question included the actual findings of the physicians conducting the autopsy coupled with the history of the life of Chase during the weeks immediately preceding his death. It was shown by the defense that Chase had been a habitual drunkard for a period of years and for a month or more preceding his death he had daily consumed "moonshine" whiskey in large quantities—as much as a quart a day.

For the prosecution Sheriff F. B. Williams was sworn this morning and he testified as to conditions found at the Green home on his arrival there and the condition of men who were there. His testimony was in accord with the published statements with which Star readers are familiar.

Lawrence Kaple of Cooperstown was next sworn and he testified as to the weather conditions at the time of the affair from records accurately kept by him. He said that zero weather prevailed on Jan. 7th, 21 above on the 8th and 30 above on the 19th. This completed the evidence for the prosecution.

City Engineer Frank M. Gurney of Oneonta, testifying, declared he had prepared an accurate map of the Green home and surroundings which he exhibited and it was offered in evidence.

Defense Springs Scamption.

The defense then sprung a sensation by calling Green to the stand. The material facts of his testimony are: On the night in question, he went out to the barn to do the chores between 5 and 6 o'clock. On his return he found Hecox in bed down stairs and that Cecil Green was on the bed with him. Chase came out in the kitchen and stood by the stove and was shaking and shivering. While there he fell down and in falling knocked the teakettle over and its contents spilled upon him. Witness and Hecox concluded that Chase needed fresh air and they took him out to the tub and witness dashed cold water upon his face with a dipper. This was around 8:30 o'clock. They then carried Chase into the house and thinking that he was dead drunk carried him upstairs and placed him in the bed with Dingman. Nothing further was heard of him until the next morning when Dingman came down and said that he thought Chase was dead.

In answer to questions by his attorneys witness declared that on two separate occasions he was questioned by state troopers who sought to intimidate him. This was at night and they stood him against the wall and cuffed him and kept him there until 1 o'clock in the morning and until he was nearly exhausted. On the morning of the second day he made a statement and signed it incriminating himself.

On cross examination District Attorney Pierson sought to place in evidence this signed statement. It was finally admitted and read to the jury. This was done after Mr. Pierson had called Sheriff Williams, Under Sheriff Converse and Troopers McMann, Montgomery and VanCleft of Sidney, all of whom testified that such methods were employed to wrest a confession from Green.

Later in the afternoon Dr. Phillips, Winsor and Manley were sworn and they testified as to the effects upon the system of the continued use of alcoholic drinks and answered the hypothetical question previously mentioned.

John Smith of Hartwick was sworn and testified that he had known Chase for years and knew that he was a habitual drunkard. Ira Green, owner of the farm, testified as to the occurrences of the night in question and he corroborated in part the testimony of Cecil Green, his nephew. His evidence differed in some important particulars from that given by him to the coroner.

Adjournment was then taken until Friday morning when the case will be given to the jury.

DISBARMENT CHARGES

Made Against Attorney F. Newell Gilbert, Formerly of Stamford.

Disbarment proceedings have been started against F. Newell Gilbert of Binghamton, formerly of Stamford, and Monroe M. Sweetland of Ithaca, according to a petition and order served on Mr. Gilbert on Tuesday morning, in which they are ordered to show cause before the appellate division of the supreme court in Albany county, why they should not be disbarred from the practice of law in New York state.

The basis for the charges, it is said, is alleged collusion in a divorce action brought by Mrs. Grace Smith, a school teacher, formerly of Dryden, against Franklin I. Smith, a farmer of Fenton, in which Mr. Sweetland appeared as attorney for Mrs. Smith and Mr. Gilbert for Mr. Smith. It is understood that the investigation was started by the justices of the appellate division on request of Justice George McCann of Elmira.

A hearing in the divorce action was given before Justice McCann in Elmira in November of last year and it is said that after reviewing the evidence he brought the matter to the attention of the appellate division. The presiding justice at once designated the district attorney of Albany county, Charles J. Herrick, to investigate the matter and prosecute the alleged offenders.

Constable Isalah J. Beesley and a private detective of Binghamton are said to have appeared as witnesses on their testimony that collusion is charged.

Dates of High Food Value. Dates are especially rich in sugar, a carbohydrate, but they also contain protein, fats and salts and, in fact, all the elements that a balanced diet calls for. Sugar is remarkable as an energy producer, and the sugar contained in the dates imported to this country is the so-called invert sugar, different from cane sugar in that no chemical change is necessary within the body to assimilate it into the human system.

FURBER DECIDES TO SAIL

Adopts in the Mind of What is the Possibility of a Find of Precious Ambergris.

Ambergris is one of the most valuable products of the sea. The mariner who spots floating on the waves a gleaming mass, fifty in appearance, will, if he knows what ambergris is, betray considerable excitement, for the substance fetches high price.

Capt. James Earle of New Bedford, Mass., is said to have been the luckiest of all shippers in the old whaling days.

From a single sperm whale he realized over $300,000. It was not the 90 barrels of oil which gave the leviathan its extraordinary value, for that was sold for something like $4,000; but within the whale's vast interior there was found a solid piece of ambergris weighing 780 pounds.

This was the last single piece of ambergris ever found, and that it came from one whale made the discovery more interesting to the scientific world.

This 780-pound piece of ambergris was sold in chunks in all markets of the world for about $100,000, and it laid the foundation of wealth for almost every man interested in the whaling expedition.

Computation of Centuries.

A century is a period of one hundred years. This is the most common signification of the word, and as we begin our computation of time from the incarnation of Christ, the word generally is applied to some term of one hundred years subsequent to that event, as the first century A. D.

Progress.

The man who is ready to give pledge that the opinion he will hold tomorrow will be precisely the opinion he holds today has either thought very little, or to little purpose, or has resolved to quit thinking altogether.—Helen Hunt Jackson.

When the mucous membrane of elimination fails to throw off bodily wastes, these poisons are often thrown off through the mucous membrane. This gives rise to CATARRH of the respiratory or of the digestive tracts.

"Catarrh"

Chiropractic adjustments get rid of catarrh by restoring normal vitality to the eliminative organs so that wastes are properly thrown off and the mucous membrane return to a healthy condition. Whether your catarrh is located in the nasal passages, bronchial tubes, stomach or intestinal tract, it will respond to Chiropractic adjustments.
